PLANET CHESS

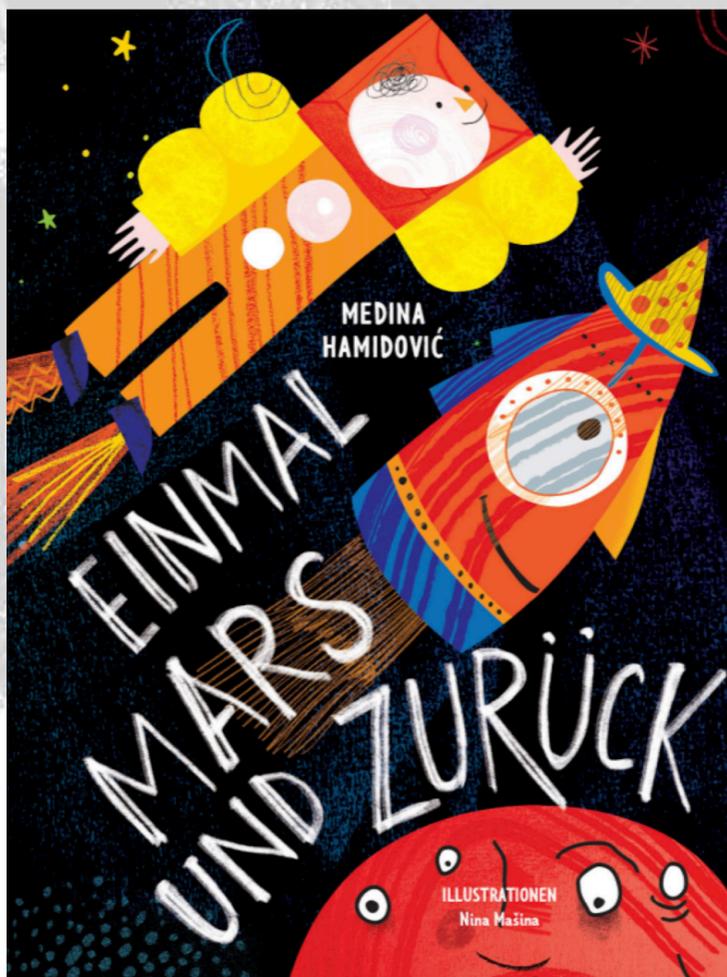

This book takes children on an exciting adventure in which Timi playfully discovers the rules of chess. Through imaginative illustrations and tricky puzzles, young readers learn step by step about the chess pieces, their moves, and the basic principles of the royal game. Written by a women chess grandmaster, the book not only teaches chess knowledge but also encourages logical thinking, concentration, and problem-solving skills. A creative picture book full of adventure and discovery – perfect for children who love to puzzle, explore, and conquer the world through play.

TO MARS AND BACK

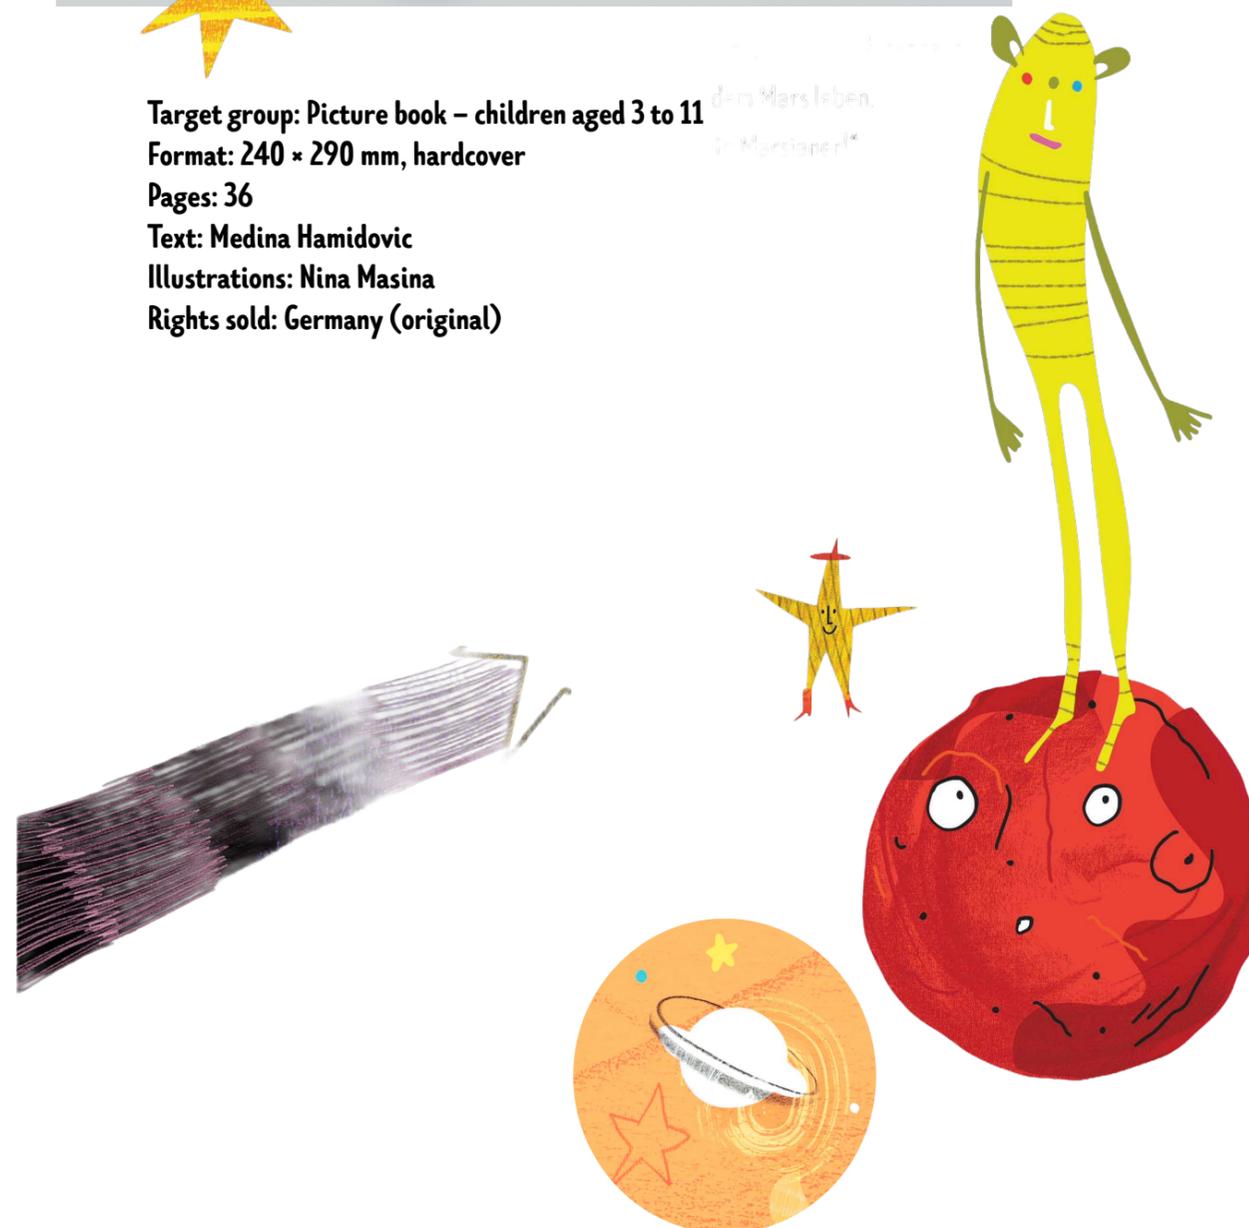

“To Mars and Back” is an extraordinary blend of scientific accuracy and storytelling imagination. The book takes children on a fascinating journey to the Red Planet, vividly showing what life there would truly be like – with thin air, red dust, weightless meals, and the vast silence of space. But the longer the boy lives on Mars, the stronger his longing for Earth becomes – for its sounds, colors, scents, and above all, its embraces. This poetic story awakens curiosity about the universe while reminding us how unique and wonderful our own planet truly is.

MARVELOUS WORLD

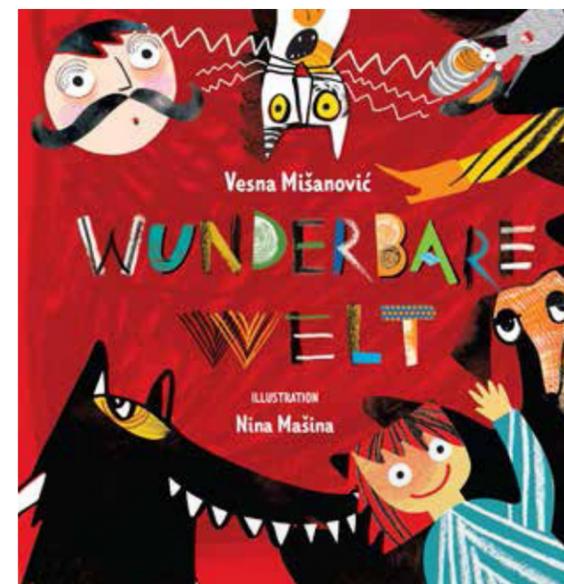

“In times like these, one must be either completely mad or a true visionary to publish a book titled Wonderful World.

Since there are far too many of us who are mad already, we choose to believe that we are extraordinary visionaries.

We are convinced that a book – especially this one – can be a tangible way to believe, and to help others believe, that the terrible world we live in today – these days, months, and years filled with hatred, rejection of diversity, war, and death – might one day truly become a wonderful place.”

THE LITTLE TIGER

In a bus filled with whispers and anxious glances, a little tiger cub hears what others say about his teeth, his claws, his stripes, and his tail. But behind every prejudice lies another truth: beauty, kindness, strength, and love. Told in lyrical verses and accompanied by sensitive illustrations, this story shows young readers that appearances can be deceiving.

A heartwarming story about diversity, self-confidence, and the quiet magic of being loved for who you are.

I LOVE MY COLORFUL GARDEN

The book draws a poetic parallel between personal growth and a blooming garden, celebrating our deep connection to nature. This inspiring picture book for shared reading encourages families to talk with children about identity and emotions. With its imaginative verses, it opens gentle spaces for conversations about self-confidence, courage, comfort, and joy. By nurturing a positive self-image, it supports the development of a healthy sense of self-worth. Author Ute Meyer, an experienced educator and remedial teacher, combines poetic storytelling with valuable insights into the natural development of children.

DANCE, PINOCCHIO, DANCE!

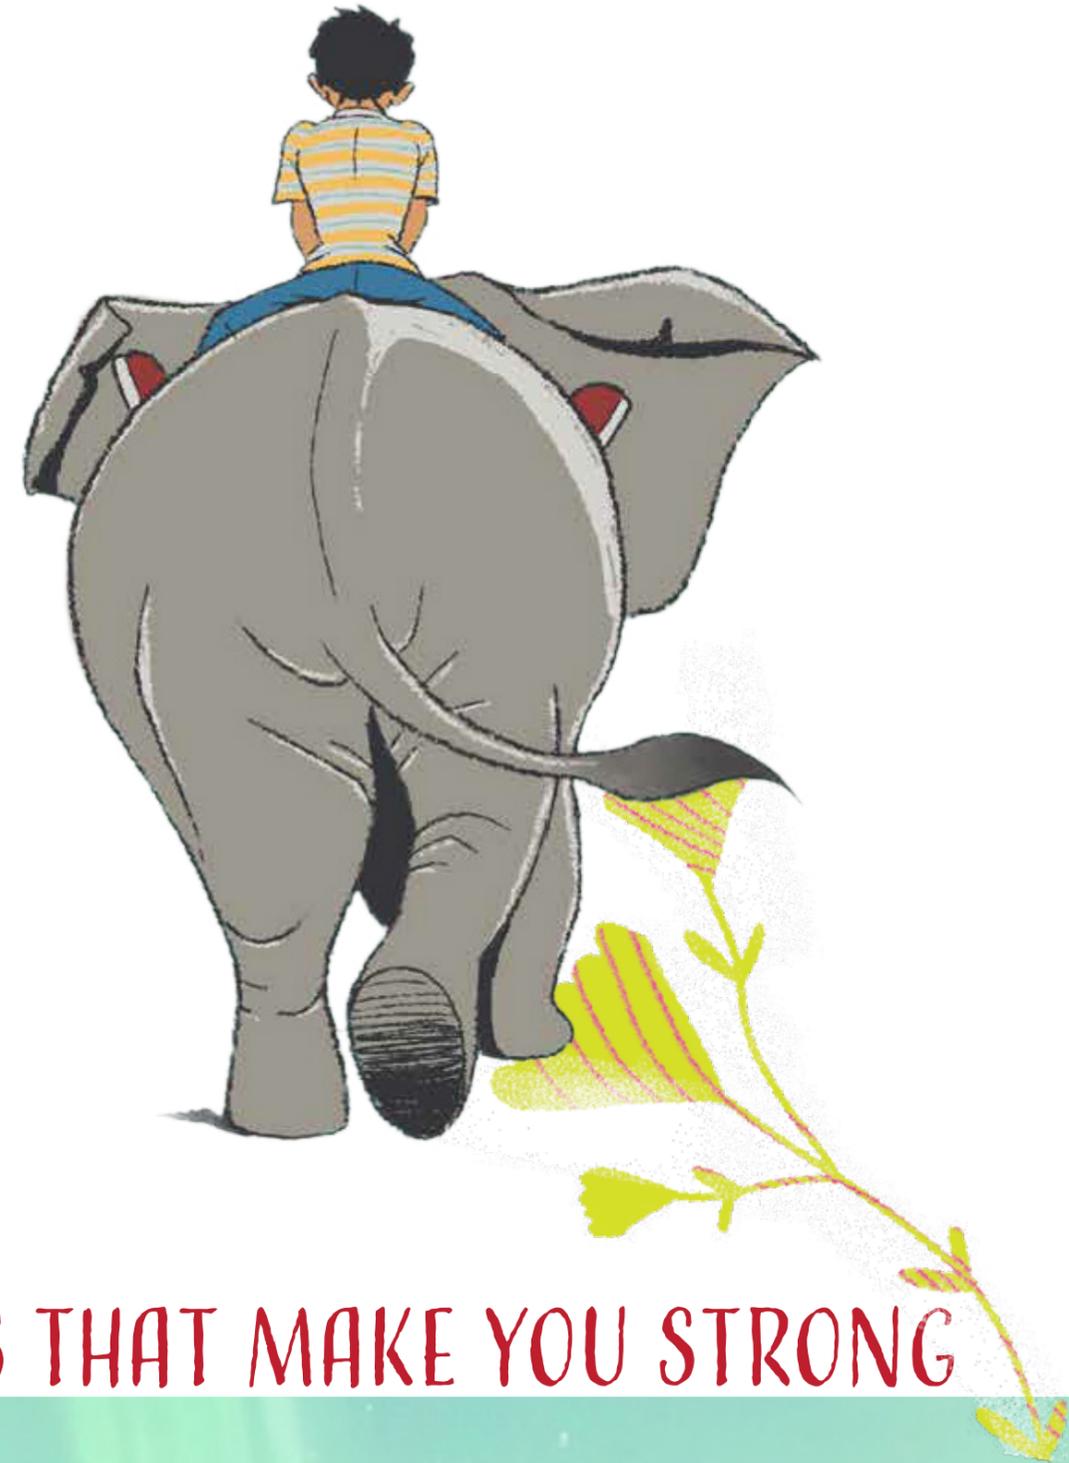

“Dance, Pinocchio, Dance!” invites children onto an imaginative stage where geometry dances, puppets dream – and every body is welcome. The story reinterprets Collodi’s timeless character, inspired by the colorful world of Bauhaus and the remarkable resilience of dancer Musa Motha. The result is a picture book that celebrates self-acceptance, diversity, and the joy of movement. With striking illustrations and a message filled with courage and hope, it shows children that – no matter how you look or move – you deserve to shine in your own spotlight.

WELTENTDECKER TEAM

BECAUSE CURIOUS MINDS AND CRITICAL THINKERS CHANGE THE WORLD

Vesna loves to play with words – just as she once played with chess pieces. She is a chess grandmaster and the recipient of several Olympic medals, honored with numerous awards including the Freedom Prize of the International Peace Center and the title “Woman of the Year” in her home country, Bosnia. As a mother of three children, she continues to be inspired by children to see the world with curiosity, wonder, and imagination – and to keep asking questions, of herself and of others.

Nina Mašina (Aleksandra Nina Knežević) is an artist and illustrator from Sarajevo. Her work is fresh and contemporary, combining playful typography and graphic design to create a truly international visual language. Her projects have received awards around the world, and in 2010 her work was included in the list of the 200 Best Illustrators Worldwide. She also illustrated the cover designs for the Bosnian edition of Harry Potter books.

Philip, father of a son, is a trained psychologist and manager currently pursuing a master’s degree in neuroscience. With a deep passion for children and young people, he contributes valuable insights into child development and education. His interdisciplinary approach bridges science and practice to create inspiring and educational content for young explorers.

Derya is a mother who loves sharing stories with children. During numerous reading sessions, she delights young listeners with imagination and warmth. In her free time, she enjoys writing and illustrating – “Twinkle, Twinkle, Stars” is her first picture book.

Ogden, Vice President of Business Development, loves books, hiking, nature and sport. He has very extensive inter-continental sales experience in different industries.
